Americans Organize in Wrangell

For the Upholding of American Principles and Laws

Only Prerequisite to Membership is to Believe in American Institutions and Their Perpetuation

We pledge ourselves to the upholding of American Principles and Laws and the stern suppression of all efforts to interfere with their application.

On Monday evening the Redmen's lodge room was filled to overflowing with people who had assembled in response to a call issued by a number of citizens who, according to the handbills, were "convinced that an open stand for law and order is now necessary in every American community."

The meeting was called to order by Mr. F. E. Bronson who addressed the gathering on the situation which now confronts the American people.

We are unable to give a verbatim report of Mr. Bronson's address, but an excerpt from it is about as follows: "A very uneasy feeling now prevails throughout the United States. The great fault is, I believe, the tolerance and patience of the American people and their indifference to public affairs. Our forefathers who founded this Government were resolute, strong, indomitable, and from a small settlement in New England the nation grew and expanded until its domain extended from the Atlantic to the Pacific. With national greatness came prosperity and with prosperity a laxity and indifference to further advancement in the science of government. The lines which our forefathers laid down were sound. Owing to changed conditions we have from time to time found it necessary to make changes in our laws. But we resent outsiders coming in and monkeying with our laws. The tragedy at Centralia is a matter for serious consideration. I believe that the citizens of the United States who are opposed to such acts and are ready to defend the country against such lawlessness are 100 to one in the majority. The murdering of returned service men at Centralia has been enough to start us. We should take a decided stand at this time for law and order, even though there is no trouble of any kind in our town. There is no town in Alaska that has a more true blue record than Wrangell."

Mr. Bronson followed his remarks with the announcement that the first business of the evening would be the election of a chairman and a secretary. Mr. George H. Barnes was elected president and Mr. E. A. Lindman, secretary-treasurer.

Hon. P. C. McCormack Speaks

Hon. P. C. McCormack was called upon to speak. In his remarks Mr. McCormack stated that he was fully in accord with the movement, as he believed that now is the time for the people of Wrangell to show that they are all real Americans. He was glad the ball had been started rolling, as there is no room in this country for a certain class that would gain a foothold here.

Charles Benjamin Speaks

Mr. Charles Benjamin was called upon to speak. He stated that he was a Native born American, and like any other loyal citizen was opposed to any effort to disrupt the Government. He said he was conscious of certain inequalities existing in our country and believed that we should work to the end that these be regulated in a peaceful manner.

The next person called upon to speak was the Mayor of Wrangell who is also the publisher of this paper. Mr. Pritchett responded with a short address which the Sentinel has been requested to publish. It would be easier to do this had his talk not been extemporaneous. As nearly as he can remember his remarks were as follows:

The Mayor's Speech

"Mr. Chairman: This crowded hall and the hearty applause that has greeted the speakers who have preceded me is a most heartening testimonial to the Americanism of Wrangell.

"The Centralia outrage, which is without equal in the long calendar of anarchistic crime, arouses within us a feeling that we can hardly express. However, there are trained literary men who can find words that seem to fit, no matter what the occasion may be. Today I was reading in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer an editorial which I consider worthy to be preserved as a classic. Listen to a few sentences from that brilliant editorial—

"These men were shot down for one offense! Their offense was that they were loyal American citizens. The evidence against them was their service uniforms.

"The rifles were aimed at the heart of Democracy; the men who fell in Centralia are martyrs all the more glorious, because their assassins are vile beyond words.

"The assassination of these returned soldiers, met for no more sinister purpose than to celebrate the ending of a four-year battle, must be put in a hideous category by itself.

"The American people will not soon forget the Centralia dead or the manner of their dying."

"The horrible news received in Wrangell last Wednesday was perhaps a greater shock to me than to any one else in this audience. Before coming to Alaska I resided a year in Centralia. I was personally acquainted with two of the victims, and I know personally two of the marked men whom the assassins failed to 'get.' In addition to the indignation that now burns in the heart of every loyal American I feel a sense of personal loss. I feel just as you would feel if you were away from here and should read in the press dispatches that a patriotic parade at Wrangell, Alaska, had been fired upon, and that Nick Nussbaumer and the two Campbell boys were dead, while three other Wrangell boys wearing service uniforms had been wounded, one of whom would die before nightfall.

"The four men dead at Centralia all went through engagements in the World War. After facing German bullets on the hell-swept battlefields of Europe they returned home. They were glad to get home. They were showing their gladness by wearing their service uniforms and marching in parade on Armistice Day. Citizens were rejoicing that the boys were home again. And it is safe to state that fond mothers were offering up silent prayers of thankfulness to Almighty God that their boys had returned to them safely, while so many others had been left on the other side sleeping beneath the poppies in Flanders fields.

"Then think of these brave, fine-looking young men being shot down on the streets of their home town on a national holiday. Is it any wonder that the entire nation is aroused to a realization that radicalism has gone too far. The fomenters of strife and the breeders of anarchy must be suppressed. The insidious activities of certain aliens must not be permitted to continue.

"In regard to aliens I have some very decided opinions. I lived in a foreign country myself for several years, and I believe I can see this question from an alien's point of view. As loyal Americans I believe that in simple justice we should treat foreigners as individuals with no thought as to their nationality. Suppose there were a number of Portuguese in Wrangell and several of them should commit some terrible crime. Would it not be manifestly unjust for us to harbor a feeling of bitterness toward ALL the Portuguese in town because of an outrage committed by two or three criminals who happened to be of Portuguese nationality. In our daily contact with aliens we should never be guilty of treating them with any unwarranted suspicion, but on the contrary make them understand that their loyalty to the country of their adoption is taken for granted. We must also realize the folly of setting standards for aliens unless we live up to those standards ourselves. It is a maxim that example is greater than precept. In no better way can we assist in the perpetuation of our Government in conformity with the self-evident truths expressed in the Declaration of Independence than by first being good citizens ourselves and then helping and assisting all aliens now in our midst who have full faith in American principles to become CITIZENS, regardless of whether they were born in Norway, Sweden, Italy, Montenegro, Greece or Germany.

"I agree with one of the previous speakers that at present there are many inequalities. This is a period of adjustment. We are facing industrial problems that are complicated and difficult. To meet these problems requires sane thinking and sober actions. If we are to be worthy of the name, Americans, we must take more interest in the affairs of our nation, doing whatever we can to change wrong conditions, and giving the civil authorities our whole hearted support in maintaining law and order.

"When I say law and order I mean law and order. I am opposed to violence, especially lynchings. I consider it a serious mistake to avenge one crime with another. When there is a riot and the civil authorities are not equal to the emergency I believe martial law should be declared. But the disgrace of martial law would never be necessary if every one did his patriotic duty and the whole nation was composed of 100 per cent Americans who were capable of putting ideals of fairness, honor and freedom above everything else.

"One of the most insidious enemies of public welfare and national security is the man who is always finding fault with the Government and never sees any good in anything that is planned or fostered by the Government. There is no better way to breed anarchy than to magnify every irritation of existence and then blame the Government for it. It is only the man or woman with a distorted vision who does not know that every privilege we enjoy we owe to our Government. It is the Government that, generally speaking, makes it safe for us to go about our several occupations unarmed and unafraid. It is the Government that maintains the public school which places the star of hope over the cradle of the poor man's babe. But the Government does not say that you shall not send your child to any school other than the public school. If you prefer to send your child to a Church school the Government interposes no objection. You attend one Church; your business partner worships in another, while your neighbor across the street attends still another. Lodges of many kinds hold their secret sessions without fear of molestation or interference. The blessings of civil and religious liberty which we all enjoy are without number. And yet there are those who instead of appreciating their privileges as Americans are busy sowing the seeds of sedition which if continued will be liable to result in further riots and insurrections.

"In common decency the nation must take a decided stand against the radicalism that leads to such unspeakable tragedies as occurred at Centralia. There is patriotism and courage enough in America when it is once aroused to call a sudden halt to the activities of those who are unreasoning in their mad desire to overturn and tear down. Those depraved ingrates who find nothing but fault with our Government must be made to understand that whether they love our flag or not they can under no circumstances treat it with disrespect. And if perchance he who prefers the red flag to Old Glory happens to be a foreigner, then make haste to send him back to the country from which he came. This country has but one flag, and the millions of loyal, patriotic Americans who love and honor that flag are going to see to it that never again on American soil will the red flag be substituted for the Stars and Stripes."

Off with the hat as the flag goes by.
Uncover the youngster's head.
Teach him to hold it holy and high.
For the sake of its sacred deed.

At the conclusion of the speaking President Barnes appointed the following committees:

Finance—F. E. Bronson, L. M. Churchill.

Executive committee—F. E. Bronson, N. Nussbaumer, G. H. Barnes, H. D. Campbell, F. E. Gingrass, H. P. Corser, L. M. Churchill, Oscar Carlson, J. G. Grant, John W. Stedman, E. A. Lindman, P. C. McCormack, Donald Sinclair, Charles Benjamin, J. W. Pritchett.

The next meeting will be held in the Redmen's lodge room at 8 o'clock Monday evening. A special invitation is extended to the ladies.

CENTRALIA—Bert Bland, the leader of the I. W. W. Armistice Day murder plot was arrested in the woods 14 miles northwest of here. He is believed to have personally shot Warren Grimm.

Americans Organize At Anchorage

(Special to the Sentinel.)

ANCHORAGE—Robert's hall was packed Tuesday night by Anchorage citizens who formed an American organization. Every business man in town is affiliating. The Alaskan Engineering officials endorse the movement. No trouble is anticipated here and the organization is merely to support Americanism. Leading citizens who took part in the meeting were John F. Coffey, who presided, Mrs. Frederick Mears, who spoke in behalf of Colonel Mears, Major McFarland, Army Chaplain Hughes, returned soldiers, Professor Dunn, Father Shepherd. Senator Price and others made rousing patriotic addresses.

Americans Organize At Juneau

JUNEAU—The Americans have organized here with Gov. Thomas Rigg, Jr. president, and L. L. Harding secretary. Membership lists are being circulated and the membership is increasing daily. "American" lapel buttons have been ordered.

Americans Organize At Ketchikan

(Ketchikan Chronicle)

"If any one refuses to sign that pledge, find out why and we'll start working on his case tonight."

Those were the first words uttered by Norman R. Walker, president of the "One Hundred Per Cent American" organization which came into being in Ketchikan Saturday night as he assumed office. It was the only speech made by Mr. Walker, but it was a mouthful. The pledge referred to was that of undiluted Americanism, country first, last and all the time. Every one was asked to sign the pledge and the president of the organization wanted to know why anyone would refuse to show his Americanism, if he had any.

It could not be doubted, from attending the meeting Saturday night, that Americanism lives. For every speech, ringing with patriotism, received the hearty applause of about 99 per cent of those in attendance, and met with the approval of the great majority of people of Ketchikan.

The speeches led up to the formation of the patriotic organization, a fitting climax for such a gathering, and Mr. Walker, in few words sounded the keynote of the purpose of that body, "to find out who the Americans are and to find out who are not loyal and why."

That keynote speech is deserving of the consideration of every loyal American, of every member of that body which formed on Saturday night. It is the duty of everyone in that organization and loyal to the flag, in these perilous times, to be on the alert, to report to Mr. Walker or one of the executive board of the organization any instances of disloyalty, Bolshevism, anarchy or disrespect for the flag.

No one need hesitate, for fear that he would not be able to substantiate his statements against the accused. Just let it be known what testimony is obtainable, the organization will then be put on the alert and it won't be long until there will be an accumulation of evidence from which the offender will not be able to hide.

It was shown Saturday night that the spirit of Americanism lives and is healthy in Ketchikan. The meeting showed the Bolshevik inclined and the radicals that they are wasting their time in the wrong community if they expect to gain control here. It showed every one that the strength of the mouthy radical is not nearly as strong as he would have one believe.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Towers arrived from Seattle the first of the week. They left for Seattle on the City of Seattle this afternoon.

News By Cable Today From All Over the World

WASHINGTON—Senator Knute Nelson of Minnesota chairman of the Judiciary committee, today presented a bill providing twenty years imprisonment for Reds. He defines seditious persons as those who advocate, oppose, prevent, hinder, delay or to do things against the free performance of the government or of its officers.

SEATTLE—The Jefferson sailed yesterday afternoon with L. K. Halvorsen a passenger for Wrangell.

LONDON—An attempt has been made to assassinate General Kolchak, the head of the Omsk Government, according to a Moscow dispatch. Hand grenades which were thrown at him killed six soldiers.

WASHINGTON—Senator Lodge's formal resolution of the peace treaty ratification, contains a preamble and 14 reservations agreed upon by a majority of the Senate before Lodge presented his resolutions. Senator Hitchcock told newspaper men that sufficient Democratic votes were assured to defeat it, as urged by President Wilson. Lodge gave Hitchcock an opportunity to offer a resolution of unqualified ratification before the final vote.

WASHINGTON—Senator Lodge declared that under the rules of the Senate, action was final unless the treaty, after being withdrawn, is re-submitted by President Wilson. Senator Hitchcock said that failure to ratify did not mean a final rejection but a refusal to ratify at this time, leaving the treaty in a parliamentary position for further consideration at the next session of Congress, but with future action indefinite, the resolution declaring the war at an end would likely assent from the House.

WASHINGTON—The Senate is dead-locked on the peace pact, having twice voted down the treaty ratification resolution, containing Senator Lodge's reservations, and once the treaty without reservations was rejected. Later, after three roll calls on its ratification had failed to muster the necessary majority, the treaty was laid aside. Senator Lodge then introduced a resolution which was referred to the Foreign Relations Committee, proposing that Congress declare that the war with Germany was at an end.

WASHINGTON—Senate begun debating Lodge's resolution on the peace treaty yesterday.

BERLIN—A report has been received that the Germans on the Baltic have begun a march on the Berlin. The report though not confirmed has produced great excitement.

WASHINGTON—Following Garfield's warning that the government proposed to have coal for the people the operators and miners have buckled down for further negotiations through a sub-committee of eight from each side.

ST. LOUIS—Sixty thousand dollars a year for the next five years was allotted today by the National W.C.T.U. in convention here, to be used for the purpose of world wide prohibition.

Mrs. G. W. Upshaw this week received a cablegram announcing the death in Seattle of her stepfather, G. W. James. Mrs. Upshaw left on the City of Seattle this afternoon for Seattle. Mr. James was one of the pioneers of Seattle. He was the founder of the business which is now being operated by Skinner & Eddy.

C. E. Weber returned Saturday from Ketchikan where he had been attending court.

Sawyer Arrested Again

Bradley R. Sawyer, secretary of the Ketchikan branch of the Alaska Labor Union, was arrested Sunday, charged with being a deserter from the United States army, and upon orders of the commanding officer at Fort William H. Seward, is now being held. It is probable that he will be sent to Fort Seward within the next few days, and there be turned over to the military authorities.

An interesting phase in the case is that Steve Ragan, late assistant United States attorney who was murdered on the streets, was reported to have evidence against Sawyer along this line upon which he intended to prosecute. On Saturday night the officials found Mr. Ragan's notes and from this secured the information, together with other evidence which they secured, resulted in his arrest.

The matter was taken up with the commanding officer at Fort Seward and he telegraphed to the officials here that Sawyer was wanted and to hold him.

It is said that the charge of desertion comes, in that Sawyer failed to fill out any questionnaire and was therefore listed as a deserter by the army.—Chronicle.

The Children of Ketchikan

(Chronicle)

Ketchikan is paving the way, aiding and abetting the anarchists of the world. It is raising a crowd of healthy young Bolsheviks and permitting the principles of Communism, class hatred and lawlessness to be planted in their young hearts,—boys from seven to 17 years old.

That is a big charge to make, yet the unmistakable, incontrovertible evidence is there to prove it; to show conclusively that mothers and fathers of Ketchikan are deliberately permitting, even lending aid, to a crowd of I. W. W. in instilling in the minds of the youngsters class hatred and lack of respect for their government.

When B. R. Sawyer assumed his duties as secretary, pro tem, of the Alaska Labor Union, one of the first acts of his official career was to summon a lot of small schoolboys, to give them a lecture which was sure to tell on their impressionable minds, to urge them to join the "Newsboys' Union." This "union" was organized and the little fellows were induced to give their 25 cents for initiation and dues. Steps were then taken to censor the reading of the public of Ketchikan. The newsboys would not sell any Outside papers on the street except the Union Record of Seattle, the sheet that is now suppressed on a charge of violation of the espionage act, the International, the official organ of the I. W. W., and one other of like nature. They were not permitted even to sell the Seattle Times, Star or Post-Intelligencer, all three of which employ none but union help and which are handled almost entirely in Seattle by the legal union newsboys' organization.

But not in Ketchikan. The boys were forbidden to sell these sheets which keep within the law. The matter of refusing to sell The Chronicle was discussed and at first it was decided to put it on the "unfair list," but realizing how little effect it would have and how little The Chronicle cared for the boycott of Mr. Sawyer or his henchmen, it was decided to permit the youngsters to handle it.

Immediately after organizing, the newsboys' union was informed of certain "unfair houses" in Ketchikan, into which they would not be permitted to go or "they would be fined." The effect of this was seen last week when one of the teachers sent two boys to a certain business establishment in town. As they approached, one of the boys told the other to go ahead in, that he could not as it was a "scab joint" and he would be fined.

All of this ridiculous boycott business would be funny, were it not for the fact that the filthy rats who are spreading the propaganda of Bolshevism are undermining the healthy minds of youth. It is bad enough for the radicals to get hold of weak minded adults, but when they start on the good children of neglectful parents, it is time for some higher authority to take a hand.

H. V. Hendrickson Becomes Editor of Ketchikan Times

H. V. Hendrickson, recently secretary of the Ketchikan labor union, this week became managing editor of the Ketchikan Times. Mr. Hendrickson was the organizer of the Wrangell labor union. He made a speech here the night the union was organized. If he conducts his paper in accordance with the constructive policies he advocated in his Wrangell speech the Times will be 100 per cent American.

Everyone who contemplates shopping for the Christmas season will do well to visit the bazaar at the Rink Friday afternoon and evening. The ladies of St. Philip's Guild have a fine assortment of fancy-work, aprons, doll-clothes, Oriental goods, candy and pictures to offer at prices as low as are consistent with the present cost of material. The sale begins at three o'clock. Refreshments will be served from 3 to 5 and in the evening, beginning at 9 o'clock. Dancing will start at 3:30. Gentlemen dancing will be charged $1.00 admission; ladies free. No charge will be made for spectators and the public is cordially invited.

Speaking of the recent floods in Skagway, the Whitehorse Star says that in addition to the immense amount of damage it did to the railway track and bridges in the Skagway valley, the floods washed away an attraction that has probably caused more fits of shivering fear from timid tourists who viewed it than any other object in Alaska, viz: The grave of the famous "Soapy" Smith, whose remains were laid to rest in the old cemetery just below Reid's falls, not far from the river bank.

Twenty-five thousand dollars in gold bricks were displayed prominently in the Bank of Anchorage recently. The gold was from the Willow Creek quartz district. It is estimated that the output for the season from the district will be $500,000.

Mrs. C. E. Weber celebrated a birthday anniversary very recently and a pretty afternoon affair was given in her honor by Mrs. O. C. Palmer. Mrs. Weber's fondness for blue is well known among her friends and all of the appointments were carried out in this color. After a time spent in playing cards the guests were invited to try their luck at an improvised fish pond. Mrs. Weber made the first catch and found a basket at the end of her line laden with pretty gifts from those present, each gift having blue as the predominating color. The catches for all the guests were dainty blue and white lap-boards with napkins attached, on which, later a delicious lunch was served. Those who enjoyed the afternoon were Mesdames G. W. Barnes, Coulter, Mason, Campbell, Benjamin, Johnson, Waters, Uhler, Stedman, M. McKinney, Weber and Palmer.

The Civic Improvement club held a special meeting last week and incidentally started an encyclopedia fund for the Wrangell school. The club, after buying the lot where the playshed was erected and presenting it to the city, had about $100 left in the school fund. A part of this has been expended for swings, etc., for the shed. Finding that very little more equipment is necessary for the shed, the club decided it could put the money to no better use than to give $70, or half the cost of the best set of encyclopedias procurable, to the school with the understanding that the other $70 be raised elsewhere. The encyclopedias are needed very badly by the school but this year's budget does not provide sufficient funds for their purchase by the school board. As delivery of the books cannot be made until January, it is safe to say that the remainder of the money will be on hand when the set arrives.

[Ketchikan Chronicle]

Norman R. Walker, president of the One Hundred Per Cent Americans, Rev. C. M. Van Marter, chairman of the meeting last Saturday night, and W. A. Knox, superintendent of schools, made short talks this afternoon before the school children of Ketchikan. It resulted in the organization of a Junior One Hundred Per Cent Americans, amid much enthusiasm. Immediately after the meeting, the president of the newsboys' union notified the committee that the organization had been disbanded. The children gave up their buttons and deposited their records with the superintendent of schools.

Twenty seven dollars were raised by the Junior Red Cross drive.

The Books of Knowledge which the school board ordered have come. These books will be helpful to all grades.

At the last executive meeting of the Women's Civic Club they decided to donate $70 to the public school as a payment towards purchasing a set of New International Encyclopedias. The school takes this occasion to thank the ladies of the club for their generosity.

Last Friday Miss O'Connor's little ones gave a "Child's Garden of Verse" program to celebrate the birthday of Robert Louis Stevenson. The mothers and the high school were invited. As usual everybody present enjoyed the program.

The Territorial Commissioner of Education of Alaska has asked for a statement of the financial savings of the pupils of the public schools. The following is the statement for the Wrangell public Schools:

Elementary school, Government securities—$5,296.50.

Elementary school, bank account—1,403.06.

High school, Government securities—725.00; Bank account—1,134.50.

The average of the total for each pupil is:

Elementary school—$81.701.

High school—169.045.

Henry Ronning.

Many girls and young women are flooding the Alaska bureau of the Seattle chamber of commerce with inquiries concerning the Territory. They all want to go North and many of them are coming with the intention of securing husbands. Alaska bachelors are making storm cellars to escape the impending catastrophe.
